

SGI PLAZA BUILDING OPENS TO COMMUNITY

A community opening for the new SGI Plaza in Santa Monica, Calif., was held June 2. The event, which about 150 community guests attended, including representatives from local government, businesses and civic organizations, commemorated the 30 years that the SGI-USA national headquarters buildings have been in Santa Monica. At the opening, Santa Monica Mayor Pam O'Connor presented SGI-USA General Director Fred Zaitso with a proclamation naming June 2 "Daisaku Ikeda and SGI Day in Santa Monica." The seven-story office building at the SGI Plaza is now serving as both the SGI-USA national headquarters and the SGI North America office.

WT

Title: SGI Plaza Building Opens To The Community
Subject: World Tribune 06/18/99 n.3247 p.1 WT990618p01 Santa Monica, California 06/02/99
Author:
Keywords: 06/02/99 Building California Community Facilities Monica Opens Plaza Santa